

MANAGEMENT TEAM

Peter Allison

Founder & Chief Executive Officer

Allison has more than 30 years of business management, venture capital and equity placement experience, and has spent more than 14 years in the biotech and medical device industries. Throughout his career, Allison has successfully launched seven companies. He holds a degree in economics from the University of Washington and a Juris Doctorate from Seattle University.

Robert Grenley

Vice President, Finance and Chief Financial Officer

Grenley has more than 12 years experience providing financial oversight for technology companies and 30 years experience in senior management roles. With both financial and investor relations expertise, Grenley has been instrumental in the start-up of several technology companies. He is a graduate of Duke University.

Amy Oriza

Vice President, Operations

Oriza has 18 years of managing and providing oversight to purchasing, accounting and production operations. She has directed the operations of several small and mid-size companies.

Jane Clery

Director, Sales and Marketing

Clery has more than 25 years of business and management experience, holding a number of leadership positions during 17 years with Quest Diagnostics focusing on hospitals and commercial laboratories. She earned a degree in communications from The Ohio State University.